Local Quilting Takes Close Contest
From Madison Moose by Margin of 23 Pins—Hershel High

In a game full of thrills the Janesville Moose defeated the Madison Moose bowling team at the West Side alley last evening by a margin of twenty-three pins. It was a nip and tuck game from start till finish and neither team was sure of victory until the final game had been completed.

The Capital City quintet captured the first game by a margin of six pins. However, the local team came back strong in the second game and won by fifty-eight pins. Although the Madison team copied two out of the three games they lost the contest as the large margin the local men had in the second game could not be overcome.

Newman of the Janesville team was a man with 211 and Hershel of the visitors carried off the honors of the evening when he hit the wooden pins for 220 in the last game. The scores follow:

Janesville Moose	Madison Moose

FOOTBALL GROWING POPULAR IN FRANCE

Paris, April 2.—Football has made such wonderful strides since the beginning of the war that it bids fair to become as popular in France as it is in England. As it stands now it may already be looked upon as the national sport of France.

The game was in favor with the French people before the outbreak of hostilities. With the advent of the English troops, however, football has made more progress during the last three years than during all the years that elapsed since it was introduced in France.

French soldiers are especially fond of the game and each division boasts of one or more star players. The twentieth corps gave a very creditable account of itself some days ago when it met the champions of 1917, the Associated Franciscans, the game ending with a score of two to one.

But it is among the younger generation that football has taken a firmer hold. There are more than five hundred eleven in Paris alone and every Sunday about two hundred and fifty games are decided. It is estimated that over one hundred thousand people see the games each Sunday.

Before the war the Ligue de Football Association, composed of twelve clubs, played weekly games which were attended by numerous enthusiasts of the sport, but with the mobilization most of the athletes joined the army and during the first few months of the war they had more serious business. However, in 1915, with the armies settled down to trench warfare and owing to the close contact with the British troops, which lost no opportunity of enjoying their favorite pastime football received an impetus hitherto unknown in France.

The British government has ordered one million footballs for its troops in France, delivery to be made within the next six months. Some of them have already reached France and the new footballs have been made. Owing to the scarcity of leather the covers are made of heavy canvas which has been given chemical treatment. The new footballs are in better condition at the conclusion of the game than a leather covered ball would have been if it had been subjected to the same use.

It seems to be the ambition of the young Frenchman to become a champion football player, just as it was the dream of every American youth to develop into a baseball star.

Mr. Manette, the president of the Union of the French Societies of Athletic Sports, told the Associated Press that "the soldiers have found the game invaluable in helping them to while away their time in the rear."

Many an afternoon has been spent in the fresh, invigorating air that might have been passed in some stuffy cafe. It is the muscular activity of a large part of young France that is at stake. Football has come to France to stay.

MICHIGAN TEAMS BEGIN PRACTICE ON DIAMOND

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Ann Arbor, Mich., April 2.—More than a score of candidates for the University of Michigan baseball teams have survived winter practice and the squad now is working out on Ferry field. Since the pitchers began to open up the hot house slubbers have been as forced as the rest of the team when practice was in the cage.

Coach Lundgren is particularly pleased over the showing of Pitchers Glen and Ruzicka and he has considerable promise in the material he has up the rest of the twirling staff. Glen pitched for varsity last year, while Ruzicka is the star of the freshman nine. Ruzicka is from Chicago where he played a number of years ago. Lundgren is in need of a southpaw. Gariepy left college to enlist in the navy.

Morrison probably will be first string catcher and Mraz will be understudy. Mraz was Ruzicka's battery mate in prep school.

SPRING CHURCH LEAGUE IS TO OPEN SEASON TONIGHT ON THE Y. M. C. A. ALLEYS

Tonight will mark the opening of the spring bowling tourney of the church leagues when the Christians and the Baptists meet. Tomorrow night the Episcopalians and the Congregationalists meet. Friday the Methodists meet the first Lutherans and the St. Paul Lutherans and Wesleyans on the week on Saturday. Some good scores are expected in this tourney by the wisecracks who are taking the previous scores as a guide.

BADGERS LOSE TO THE BLACKHAWK NINE, 31-7

The Badgers were defeated by the Blackhawk nine in a baseball game at Riverview park Saturday by the score of 31 to 7. Hard hitting by the Badgers started the game. E. Loeck started for the visitors. Next Saturday the Badgers will cross bats with the Lone Scouts.

Evansville News

Wisconsin Reserve Guard to be Reorganized.
Evansville, April 2.—Captain Harry Hansen last week received instructions from the State Adjutant General stating that as soon as the reserve guards here could be reorganized according to the rules and regulations furnished by the state, he would be here in person to swear them into service and complete their organization so they would be recognized by the state.

Each company is allowed to enlist a reserve strength of 135 but the active company must not exceed 65 men.

The company must have a drill hall the expense of which will not be met by the state.

The uniforms, which will be the regular national guard uniforms, will not be furnished by the state, but will be paid for by the men themselves or by popular subscription.

The age limit is from eighteen to sixty-four years of age, and preference will be given to applicants who from the nature of their business profession will be able to respond to a call the quickest and the easiest.

The period of the enlistment will be for the duration of the war and for four months afterwards.

The state assumes no obligations to uniform or equip the guard, or to furnish funds for the maintenance of the units, but the state quartermaster will assist in procuring the presented uniforms at the best possible contract price.

Forty drills per annum will be the number required, of not less than one hour.

No payment will be made for drill duty, but in case they are called for active duty, the pay will be the same as the Wisconsin State Guard.

Discharges may be granted men on account of change of residence, physical disability or non-performance of duty.

Red Cross Notes.
In the knitting department it has been necessary to show up a little of late, due to the difficulty in getting sock yarn. But the chairman of that department is using every means to get yarn as quickly as possible. A box of knitted articles, the combined work of Magnolia, Cookville and Evansville was sent recently. It contained 27 sweaters, 13 pairs of socks, and 37 pair of wristlets.

Personal.
A baby daughter, Eloise Susan, came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Enger, Saturday afternoon, March 30, 1918. Mrs. Enger and baby are at the Madison Hospital and are doing splendidly.

Why tenants look for IDEAL heat

After the long, hard winter, renters know and appreciate more keenly than ever the difference between a house or flat heated "in spots" by old fashioned methods as compared with the uniform comfort and cleanliness of IDEAL-AMERICAN Heating. They shun one and seek the other. Landlords also know that the value of any building, large or small, is much increased by, and renters gladly pay 15% more for—

AMERICAN & IDEAL A RADIATORS & BOILERS

Both IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators will give wonderful service every year as long as the building stands. Made of non-rusting, ever-wearing cast-iron sections which can be installed anywhere without tearing out doorways, walls or partitions. IDEAL Boiler does not require expensive excavation or brick-setting. If building is altered or enlarged, the boiler and radiators may have extra sections added easily. Did you ever see a second-hand IDEAL Boiler or AMERICAN Radiator? And you never will! They're always like new. Fully guaranteed!

IDEAL Boilers have large fuel pots in which the air and coal gases thermally mix and burn in modern gas or oil burner, thus extracting every bit of the heat from the fuel. Easier to run than a stove.

Look, before you lease, for Ideal heating!

Don't discount your new home or let your present building get behind the times for lack of this heating outfit. No other feature of a building yields equal returns—in fuel savings, absence of repairs, household cleanliness, and least care-taking.

If you are weary of everlasting blackening, repairing and fire-coxing, discard at once the old way and put in an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit at this season, when you get best attention of most skilled fitters. Send for free booklet—"Ideal Heating" which explains how to get full returns from every heating coal bill.

U. S. Men in Parade.

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

Madison, April 2.—Over 1,000 Jackies and Samurais from Camp Grant and Great Lakes, Ill., will march in the Liberty day parade to be held here Saturday afternoon in celebration of the nation's entry into the war against Germany. It is estimated that between 2,500 and 3,000 uniformed men will appear in the parade as the university cadets and the two home guard companies will also march. A band of thirty pieces from the Great Lakes station will also be sent here.

CLINTON NEWS

Clinton, April 1.—Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McKinney came home from Madison on Saturday where they have been spending the winter at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Switzer. Their grandson, Raymond Switzer, accompanied them home and will visit here a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kemmerer motored over from Waukesha on Friday, making an over night visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kemmerer.

Mr. McMillan of Delavan, visited his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Horn and family on Saturday.

Mr. Frank Stoney and mother, Mrs. H. Stoney, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitte motored to Beloit on Sunday to see Mrs. George Stoney and children who will leave soon for Charleston, West Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Everhart and baby of Madison, visited his mother, Mrs. Ada Everhart and other relatives over Easter.

Mrs. Charles Ableman of Poplar Grove and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ben Oliver, of Texas, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Margaret Dickerman.

Marian Napper went to Beloit on Friday to spend part of her spring vacation with Marica Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Christman and daughter, Ruth, who have been visiting their parents on Saturday and Sunday, left for Beloit to visit relatives the balance of the week.

Mrs. George Fredendall and daughter, Helen, of Beloit, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Simmons on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murson were guests at the 6 o'clock supper at the Carlton in Edgerton Saturday evening given to the Hon. Bert Williams and wife of Madison. Mr. Williams spoke there in the interest of Joseph E. Rorer for U. S. Senator in the evening.

Miss Emma Berge is home from Whitewater spending a few days' vacation.

The fishing season is opened up here, but up to date there are ten fishermen to every fish caught.

The ladies will give an Easter supper in the hall Thursday night. The Red Cross meets at Mrs. W. N. Lee's Wednesday afternoon.

The service flag dedication will be held in the church next Sunday morning. All are cordially invited.

A Red Cross Benefit, home talent comedy, "My Turn Next," and the circuslike comedians, will be given in the church here Friday evening, April 26th.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murson received news that their son Claude of Chicago had undergone a serious operation in the hospital there, but was doing well.

Owing to the prompt action of the Clinton fire department on last Wednesday at 11:30 a. m., what would have proved a disastrous fire for the village was kept under control and finally extinguished, when George George Murwin's blacksmith shop was discovered on fire on the south side and clear to the peak on the roof and it had not been put out would probably have burned every building on the entire block.

The farmers here are responding to the patriotic cry for more wheat and the acreage will be doubled here this year; also other farm products and gardens and everything that goes to feed the people.

HOLD FAST.
This war is not "three thousand miles away" today and Secretary of War Baker is learning a lot of first-hand, genuine information while over there in the actual war zone that will be beneficial to him later on if he appreciates its worth. Meanwhile our "lifers" are holding on and waiting for the United States to speed up in production and furnishing men and equipment.

Not long before his death, Lord Kitchener, who had no illusions about the length of the war, said that generals win battles but soldiers win wars. There is a terrible conflict between the British soldier fighting in the war and the American soldier fighting in the war. It is making the only waste men for the conquest of something not worth the price. He does not run away, either in victory or defeat, as the British soldiers did in Australia before a beaten foe.

This is no idle boasting, or whistling through the fingers to keep up our courage. There could be no better barometer than the prices in the stock market, and they are telling Hindenburg and the Kaiser that their great blow is showing diminishing force. These warriors are, in fact, advancing across an area which they themselves devastated last year, and against an enemy with undiminished morale and full supplies. The more every step in advance increases the risk and makes the problem of food and ammunition more difficult. There is no reason for alarm, nor is it at all likely that one own people will show any disposition to panic. We are, indeed, able at last to estimate the scope and force of the German offensive, and knowing so much, it can be dealt with.

There is one thought which arises that should sober our arm-chair soldiers in Washington. It is that our exhibit in the war, with all kinds of advertising, has so far been trifling compared with the terrific strain endured by the British and French, not merely in the present drive but for forty-four months. To hear some of our vainglorious warriors talk it might be imagined that our allies knew nothing of war, and that the heavy improvisations of our training camps were being transported to Europe to teach them in a patronizing way how to fight.

They know how to fight as well as we do, or better. They have had peace and experience which we lack. If we had started to prepare upon the sinking of the Lusitania or earlier, as every moral obligation to civilization dictated, we should now be adding effective strength to the fighting front, represented by a force many times more than a couple of regiments of railroad engineers. It is hard to offer the estimate of wholesome humility, but the sooner we recognize that what is wanted is not talk and bragging but earnest self-denying effort, the better it will be for ourselves, and the more certainly shall we justify our entry into a conflict which is fought for everything we hold dear.

THEY ARE GOING.
By the hundreds, the dozens, the scores and the individuals, our boys are answering the call for the service "somewhere over there." They are going to training camps or they are being fitted out for across the seas service with all the speed possible. General Pershing has offered the services of the United States troops now in France to take part in repulsing this last drive of the Hun, and possibly by this time some of our own Rock county boys are doing their work like men and soldiers. Meanwhile others are going from civil life into the actual war service and we are saying good-bye to them, proud to honor them, but regretting the necessity for their going. Yet there is work here at home for those who are left behind. Work not half as agreeable, but still a necessity. Watching for the "spies at home." They exist and they are a menace to the whole community. During the civil war days the southern sympathizers were known as copperheads and given scant courtesy, but thus far this nation has not awakened to the responsibility thrust upon it and some of our pro-German friends still wink their evil-eyes in our midst, apparently unsuspected. No matter what appearance of loyalty they put up, how they mask their faces and guard their tongues, down in their hearts they are disloyal and by insidious acts undermine the great morale of this country. While our boys are going away to fight our battles let us smoke these hornets out at home and be doing our share to protect the fighting force.

FIREMEN'S PAY.
In this day and age of high wages for efficient workmen, in a period when skilled labor is at a premium, would it not be well to make arrangements for a readjustment of the wages paid to the members of the Janesville fire department? The men who compose this important branch of the city service certainly deserve more compensation for their labor than they are now receiving. They risk not only life and limb, but night or day are at the call of citizens whose property is endangered. Think it over, you men who are to compose the next council, and see if it is not justice that the efficiency of the department be kept up by paying more liberal compensation for the work demanded?

The Germans of course still consider the Americans as a negligible factor in the war, as Kaiser Bill has told them we are merely coming over to see the country and inspect the ruins.

The folks who find the most fault because the newspapers don't have more courage, are often the same ones who send in letters to the newspapers but won't allow their signatures to be published.

Some of these people who now go up in the air because the United States has not got five million rifles are the same ones who a year ago kicked on an appropriation for making five thousand a year.

It won't be possible to convince the Germans that they aren't supermen, but we may be able to make them feel that this superman business is altogether hard work.

Also that thoroughly depraved kid who used to trample down your flowers so ruthlessly while hunting for his lost baseball, is no doubt now the one who hunts the Huns most actively in the trenches.

The sporting life people will be sitting up an hour later than usual now, on the excuse that the clocks have been set ahead, but the office will open by the clock at the same old sleepy hour in the morning.

That very bad boy who used to keep the whole neighborhood stirred up by the careless way he used his little air rifle, is now the proud sniper of Boches on the Lorraine front.

It is said the Germans will attack our cities by airplanes. Nothing we could do would be as effective in waking up our slaukers.

After declaring that they wish to establish a permanent peace, the Germans proceed to lay plans for the next war.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOUNTAIN

SETTING THE CLOCK AHEAD.
They have set the clock ahead, everywhere, to save daylight. But the only thing the average tired man on the farm will save will be another chunk of darkness. The average tired man, going to bed, meets himself every night. It is now. With the new rule in vogue he will no more than get the second boot pulled off before it will be time to pull the first one on. All of which is reminiscent of the farinhand out in Indiana who went to his employer and wanted to work for less money. He didn't believe he was earning the $15 a month.

"Why?" asked the farmer, dumfounded.
"Because," said the young man, "there are three hours of the twenty-four that I waste. I don't do a darned thing but sleep."

A rabbit-raising club has been started at Parkersburg, W. Va. About the first thing that will have to do will be to enlarge the city limits if they are going to keep it a local affair.

It has been suggested that maybe Jess Willard would be willing to take on Benny Leonard or some other 130-pounder for an exhibition match if his share is guaranteed at $1,000,000. Well, anything for a little excitement.

We still maintain that Jess is the prize peacock.
Now that the allies have found a baseball league on the other side, they will probably make a triple play on the Kaiser—Washington to London to Paris to Berlin.

Our friend Jake Rosenthal runs the Bronx Opera house, where the attraction is "What Is Your Husband Doing?"
Jake was standing in the theater lobby the other evening and a lady approached and asked him what attraction was on, and he said:
"What Is Your Husband Doing?"
"None of your business," she replied.

It isn't very funny, but it has the usual charm of being true.

Charlotte Perkins Gilman says if all women died, men would get along without them.
But not much further than one generation.

Kaiser telegraphs Von Hertling that "the German sword has brought peace in Russia."

All the peace the Kaiser will ever have in Russia will not worry the allies.

"My face is set toward the east," says Ludendorff.
Turn around, Ludie. There is something coming up behind you.

WAR ADVICE.
The optimist says: "Go ahead. There's a chance to lose."
The time is now, and, on the dead, you really can't refuse."
The pessimist says: "Wait a bit and look before you leap."
If there is any good in it, the chance will surely keep."

The optimist sees but the sun, the pessimist but rain.
The optimist prepares for fun, the pessimist for pain.

The optimist pulls forward and the pessimist pulls back.
The one pulls wide the throttle and the other sands the track.
The world would be monotonous if folks were all the same.

With no one round to raise a fuss, "twould be a lonely game.
The optimist with his glad song, the pessimist so blue—
We really couldn't get along unless we had the two.

Salute the dead! Tell them who sleep faith, undaunted, you will keep. They held the line till you could come. Their eyes are closed, their voices dumb. But now their spirits wait to lead you forward in the hour of need. Salute the glorious who have gone! It is their work you carry on.

FUEL DEALERS HOLD BANQUET TOMORROW

Rock County Fuel Merchants' Association Will Meet at Myers Hotel at Twelve-Thirty to Discuss Problems.

Over forty fuel dealers in this vicinity are expected to be present at the banquet dinner of the Rock County Fuel Merchants' Association, which will be held at the Myers hotel tomorrow at twelve-thirty. The meeting was called by Leo H. Atwood, president of the association, S. S. Sette, secretary, and Jesse Earle, county fuel administrator.

The purpose of the gathering is to discuss the coal situation and to talk over matters pertaining to shipment and delivery. Instructions will also be given as to the method of handling the cards which each consumer must be compelled to sign before he can buy a ton of coal. Mr. Earle has complete data on this and will give thorough explanation of other government orders relative to the sale of coal.

The meeting will be one of importance not only to the dealers themselves but to the general public, as the dealers have put on thought in mind and that is to serve the people in the best possible way so that it will not be necessary to issue another closing order next winter on account of fuel shortage.

Leaves for France.

Madison, Wis., April 2.—Miss L. T. Lepetit, assistant professor of physical education at the University of Wisconsin, will leave next week for France to take up reconstruction work. She will have charge of a unit.

SALUTE THE DEAD!

Salute the dead as you pass by! Salute the brothers brave who lie Neath little mounds on Flanders' field! Give them /the sign you'll never yield. Their souls are hovering near to see The lines new-formed for liberty. Salute them as you pass that they May know you honor them today.

Salute the little wooden cross. The symbol of a mother's loss. That dots the wayside where you tread. That he who sleeps among the dead May know you follow in his train. And that he has not died in vain. Say to the horses who have gone, Their fight for freedom still goes on.

Salute the dead as you pass by. Not outwardly with hand to eye. But inwardly, as soul to soul. That they may know, though ages roll.

THIRTY-FIVE ROCK COUNTY MEN
DEPART TOMORROW MORNING
FOR PORT STEVENS,
ORE., TO ENTER NA-TIONAL ARMY.

A ROUSING SEND-OFF

Bower City Band Will Play and Platoon
from 16th Separate Company Will Form Honor Squad
—Tobacco and Candy
—for Men.

Event—Departure of Selected Men.
Place—St. Paul Depot.
Time—Ten-forty O'clock.
Destination—Fort Stevens, Ore.

Thirty-five young men from Rock county will leave Janesville tomorrow morning at ten-forty o'clock for the St. Paul railroad on the first stretch of their journey which they hope will lead them to Berlin. These thirty-five selected men will go to Fort Stevens, Ore., an old army post, on the extreme northwest coast of Oregon.
Citizens of Janesville and Rock county will pay the men a farewell well tomorrow morning and it is hoped that every man, woman and child that can possibly do so, will be at the station when the train pulls out in the morning. The young men will go to Madison and from there to Sparta where the balance of the Wisconsin men, that are to make the trip, will be picked up. From Sparta, they will go direct to St. Paul and thence to their final destination.

Preparations have been made to give the young men a send-off that they will never forget. It is the desire of the committee in charge, to show the young men that the citizens of this city and county are in back of them.

The Bower City Band will appear on the streets in the morning at ninethirty o'clock and will play several selections before marching with the platoon of the 16th Separate Company, which will be in the lead. To-candy, etc., has been purchased for the men, and when they leave Janesville, they will know that the people are with them and that they will not be forgotten. A platoon from the 16th Separate company, under command of Lieutenant Victor Hem-minger, will also march as an honor escort.

This is the fifth time that the citizens of Janesville have been called upon to give local boys a send-off. However, this is the first time that the platoon of the 16th Separate Company has been called upon to do so.
In a group to go such a distance from home before entering the services of Uncle Sam. The boys are glad to go, and they are glad to see the people of Rock county who feel assured that this county is sending out thirty-five young men tomorrow morning, who will enter the army with the feeling that they have not been forgotten, and that the people back home are in back of them, and will do all in their power to assist them.

It has not been deemed advisable to ask the stores and factories to close, but it is hoped that the crowd at the depot Wednesday morning will be one of the largest that has ever gathered on an occasion similar to this. It will be the last opportunity the people will have to see the boys
so let's all turn out in the morning and give them a royal send-off. The platoon will be led by the Kaiser and Von Hindenburg, and let them know that Rock county is doing her share in this terrible war, and that the people of Rock county are going to play an important part in the fray before Prussianism is downed for all times.

From the list of the men whom it was announced Saturday night that several names have been scratched for different reasons. Stanley Her-wood of this city and Arnold H. H. H.
of Evansville have been withdrawn
on account of slight physical disability. The board did not consider it advisable to send these men to Port Stevens only to have them taken out after examinations there. They will be held over and sent to Camp Grant with the next contingent, as will also Fred Guinness who is ill with smallpox. A royal send-off to the farmers it was announced Saturday had been exempted, three others have also been taken from the list:
Ernest Locke, Edgar Dab, Janesville, Milton and Edward Dab, Janesville.

This leaves just thirty-five men on the list, and five alternates. It may be that one or more of the men will be dropped from the list of those who, at noon today, were scheduled to leave for Port Stevens, follows:

crements from Burlington and Monrovia, numbering sixty-two men, will leave at the same time. All of these men will depart on the same train with the Janesville boys at ten-forty, making a total of 142 men who will leave from these four southern cities, almost half the total number to be sent from Wisconsin.

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS
The water department office at the city hall will be open Monday, Wed-at Beloit where she visited with her friends.

At Red Cross headquarters for work.
There has been a great deal of work done this week for workers so there was a good attendance.

The Hill Top sector of the Red Cross will work on Wednesday. They meet all day and take their lunch.
They are still sewing on garments for the soldiers, pajama suits and hospital shirts. These garments are in great demand and now the Red Cross is calling for them in large numbers and all over the country the women are responding by keeping on working.

The ladies of St. Peter's Lutheran church will meet for work at the church school on Tuesday evening.
They work on Red Cross work.

Mrs. George W. Yahn Jr. entertained a dinner on Tuesday evening for were her guests. The dinner was served at seven o'clock. The decorations were Easter lilies and carnations.

Prizes were won by the Misses Jessie Pruner and Vergelia Rowley. Mrs.
Yahn will give a dinner on Sunday evening for Miss Jessie Pruner, whose marriage will take place on April 20th.

Mrs. C. S. Putnam of St. Lawrence avenue, was most pleasantly surprised on Monday the occasion being her birthday. Twelve ladies, who are members of a card club, took their supper which was served at six o'clock and spent the evening. Cards were played. A special prize was presented to Mrs. Putnam and at cards the prize was won by Mrs. William Jud.

party at the home of Daisy Simpson, 133 South Jackson street, Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Maud Howard, who leaves for Madison, where she has accepted a government position. Miss Reardon's many Janesville friends wish her good luck in taking up this new position.

EXPECT THAT RECORD
VOTE WILL BE CAST
AT ELECTION TODAY

Intense Interest Is Being Taken in Issues at Stake.—Many Workers Stationed at Polls.

Voters of the city turned out en masse today to cast their ballots on the candidates running for city clerk, city auditor, city engineer, city and city judge. From six o'clock this morning through the day the polling places were crowded to the limit. It was freely predicted that one of the largest vote casts in any election in the city would be recorded when the final count was made this evening when the polls are closed.

All wards reported a turnout today that the number of voters was twenty-five per cent greater than at the previous elections held this spring.
Workers for the various candidates and for the city officers were stationed in the near proximity of the polling places to further the interests of the candidates. The election in the license question and the fact that the city would either go wet or dry by a close vote and no efforts were spared to get every vote possible out of the polls.

In the first, second and third wards
the race for alderman brought out the workers in force. Due to the number of candidates and the fact that each voter will count heavily when the final count is made, intense interest was taken. The race for city clerk, city treasurer, as well as for city engineer and city judge, was also very close.

Charles L. Valentine was the only candidate who filed papers for mayor,
very little discussion was prevalent
regarding this office.

When making their choices on the city offices and the wet and dry issue, the candidates for the supreme court, the voters balloted for the election of judge for the circuit court and for judge of the municipal court in Beloit. Judge Grimm, present holder of the bench of the circuit court, was unopposed as was Judge John H. Clark of Beloit. In the present time, Marvin Rosenberg and George Crownhard were the candidates for the supreme court.

OBITUARY

W. H. Merritt.
Word was received here today of the death in Seattle, Washington, of W. H. Merritt, a former resident of this city, and well known in political circles. He held one term of office as alderman of the first ward during 1906 and 1908, but was always deeply interested in all things of civic importance, both in and out of office, and his many friends who will be grieved to hear of his demise.

Mr. Merritt came to Janesville as a young man and had lived in the city up to a few years ago, when he went with his family to Seattle, where he passed away. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons and a daughter, Mrs. C. T. Tanberg, his wife, and Fred Merritt, his son.
Mr. Merritt is now stationed somewhere in the U. S. navy. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

Michael Pulliter.
Michael Pulliter, aged forty-five years, passed away at the Mercy hospital this afternoon at one o'clock.
He had been ill for several weeks. He had been employed in this city for some time by the St. Paul railroad as a section hand. He has no relatives in this city.

Funeral services will be held from Ryan's chapel at eight thirty o'clock and from St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock. Interment will be in Mt.
Olivet cemetery.

Elizabeth Trenwith.
Funeral services for the late Miss Elizabeth Trenwith were held this morning at nine o'clock from the St.
Patrick church. The mortal remains were laid to rest in the Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mr. J. Shields, Leroy Kenting, Jas.
Fullerton, John Smith and Frank Parker.

BASEMENTS STILL FLOODED AS ROCK RIVER DECREASES

With the river rapidly receding
many of the basements are still covered by water. The water has fallen nearly two inches in the past two days.
The water at Indian Ford and Fulton is also rapidly receding and water will soon reach its normal height again.

The only thing that would have a tendency to swell the height of the water at the present time is the expected heavy rains and it is not expected that this community will have any real heavy rains for some time.

St. Patrick Church. A call to put out a fire at the corner of Washington street and Magnolia avenue was answered by the fire department at six o'clock last evening. One stream of water was used.

BELIEVE THAT YOUTH OF EIGHT YEARS WAS DROWNED LAST NIGHT

Chauncey Dean, Son of Mr. and Mrs.
F. K. Dean, of Eastern Avenue,
Is Thought to Be Victim.

Evidence in the hands of the police and the facts gathered regarding his disappearance have led Chief of Police F. D. Shannon to believe that Chauncey Dean, eight years, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Dean, 1221 Eastern avenue, was drowned last evening about six-thirty o'clock in the vicinity of the Big Rock, near the Monterey bridge. Young Dean left his home shortly after six o'clock and has not as yet returned, with the result that it is believed that he is the person seen in the river near the Big Rock.

Pedestrians who were crossing Monterey bridge at about six-thirty o'clock reported to the police that they had heard someone calling for help and that they had seen a person throw up his hands and then sink into the deep water about twenty feet from shore.
The police hurried to the scene and immediately began dragging the river.

Due to the fact that the persons who said they had seen the drowning person, did not remain in the vicinity,
the chief of police thought it might be an April fool joke being played on the police. But when Mrs. Dean called the station and said that her son had not returned and it now seems a certainty that it is her son that was drowned.

The supposed drowned boy was in the habit of going near the river in spite of the entreaties of his parents to remain away. This habit had been for some time. He had been carrying a bag of tobacco and when he did not return a search was made for him, and up to late this afternoon he had not returned.

As the current is swift in the vicinity of the place where the boy was seen in the water, the police who are engaged in the work of dragging are encountering some difficulty. Each time the body is pulled up, it is carried over the dam where the water is rushing madly.

LENROOT IS FAVORED
AS LOYAL CANDIDATE
BY EASTERN STATES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 2.—The loyal states of the east are hoping for the election of Irvine L. Lenroot, of the United States senate by Wisconsin as an answer to the charges that the state is disloyal, declared William A. Pennerget of New York, in an address which closed the campaign speeches at the Wisconsin state capitol in Milwaukee on Monday night. Pen-nerget, who is an enthusiastic advocate of Lenroot, said that the election of Lenroot would be a victory for the loyal states of the east.

Within the last thirty-six hours, the city of Milwaukee, supposed to be the stronghold of the loyal states, has been threatened by the wave of Len-root strength which has been sweeping up from the north, south and west, and has already reached the lake shore counties and the Fox river valley. Never has a campaign of two weeks made such progress, especially since Mr. Lenroot took the stump.

It is a household word in Milwaukee and the election talk on the streets is all Lenroot. The republican candidate goes to the polls a four to one favorite in the eyes of the city, and a strong money in sight.
Others of odds that Lenroot receives 40,000 majority are going begging.

Mr. Pennerget warned his audience that the election of Lenroot would be a victory for the loyal states of the east, and that the election of Lenroot would be a victory for the loyal states of the east.

Discipline alone is receiving rigid attention. "Marksmanship and discipline" seem to be the keynote of Gen.
Pershing's demands.

RURAL TEACHERS WILL MEET AT HIGH SCHOOL

Meeting Will Be Specially for County School Teachers, but a Cordial Invitation Is Given to Every Teacher.

The Rock County Teachers' Institute will be held at the Janesville high school next Saturday, April 6th. This program has been completed and some very interesting subjects will be discussed.

The Liberty Loan committee has arranged to have a place on the program and will have a speaker present who will talk to the young ladies on the help they can render in the coming campaign.

This is the only meeting for teachers in the county this spring. Every rural teacher is urged to be present, as many of them have had very little chance to attend meetings since last fall.

The most important duties and the greatest opportunities ever known to teachers are denouncing their service. The teacher and her school are repounding nobly, justifying their faith in the loyalty and patriotism.

The program for the meeting follows:

9:30 a. m. Music—Orchestra from School for the Blind.
9:50 a. m. Teaching Spelling—Prof. A. W. Burr, Beloit College.
10:20 a. m. A Live Drill Lesson—Pres. Asa M. Royce, Platteville Normal School.
11:00 a. m. Educational Beginnings—Pres. A. M. Brannon, Beloit College.
11:30 a. m. Teaching Geography—W. E. Larson, State Inspector.
1:20 p. m. Music—Orchestra from School for the Blind.
1:40 p. m. Assignment of a Reading Lesson—Pres. A. M. Royce.
2:20 p. m. Teaching History with Reference to the War—W. E. Larson.
3:00 p. m. Roll Call and Announcements.

3:20 p. m. Address—A Government Official.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Fannie Ward, one of the sweetest young things on the screen, like several others as sweet and young, is one of the oldest in the business. At any rate she is perhaps Marguerite Clark's greatest rival in the art of looking a decade or two younger than one really is.

However Marguerite Clark may feel about it, Fannie Ward says that she's not the least ashamed of her age and is glad to have people know that she's really approaching her dotage.

But just to make it interesting she refuses to tell how old she really is.

"If I did tell there would be no fun in it at all. I've heard people in the movie shows say that 'she's at least forty-three, I know,' and I never butt in to contradict them. I'm pretty old, of course, but I'm not going to tell how old. Probably it's just that pathetic instinct. Besides if I did tell no one would believe me. They'd all say that I'm lots older."

Jeanie MacPherson is at work on the scenario for "Old Wives for New," the new C. B. De Mille special. Artistic, realistic and actual activities should begin on this photograph in about a week. The novel was written by David Graham Phillips, and Miss MacPherson is developing it into a screen story. The cast of players will be announced shortly for the film.

Sessue Hayakawa is resting for a few days following the completion of the Paramount picture, "The White Man's Law," which James Young directed, and will shortly begin work on a new picture, the title of which has not yet been announced.

Wallace Reid and Ann Little, directed by Donald Crisp, began work recently on "Belle of the Nineties," the production taken from the well known Harvard prize play which had such a successful run in the eastern theaters a few seasons ago. In this picture Miss Little returns again to cowgirl life in her role of a Colorado mountain maiden, while Mr. Reid is cast for the clubman who goes west on a wager.

Elsie Ferguson and Maurice Tourneur, her director, accompanied by the players in the cast of "A Doll's House," left for Maine recently, where exterior scenes in the famous Ibsen story will be taken.

WILL CALL ON YOUNG MEN IN U. S. CAMPS

Asks That Relatives Mail Their Requests Before Tomorrow Noon

Or It Will Be Too Late.

C. R. Bearmore, who is now in the east has written to friends in the city stating that he expects to visit Camp Merritt in New Jersey and Camp Custer, Michigan, and that anyone having any Janesville friends or relatives in either of these camps should write to him at Spring Lake Beach, New Jersey, and he will get in touch with the boys if possible.

He writes as follows, in part: "I am sure that any Janesville people have friends at either place. I should be glad to try to call on them if desired, and if their company and department are made known to me by letter, I do not promise to call on all of them, but I will try my best. Letters must be mailed before Wednesday noon of this week."

Cap'n Warren's Wards

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN.

Copyright, 1911, D. Appleton &amp; Co.

"Caroline, I tell you I cannot answer these questions. He does wish to remain unknown, as I told you and your brother when we first learned of him and his claim. If I were to tell you I should break my faith with him. You must excuse me; you really must."

"Isn't he my uncle, Elisha Warren?" Sylvester was halfway to the door, but she was in his path and looking him directly in the face. He hesitated.

"I thought so," she said. "You needn't answer, Mr. Sylvester. Your face is answer enough. He is. How could I have been so blind?"

"You must excuse me."

The lawyer, nervous, chagrined and greatly troubled, remained standing by the door. He did not know whether to go or stay. He took his handkerchief from his pocket and wiped his forehead.

"When?" he exclaimed. "Well, by George!"

She paid no attention to him, but went on, speaking apparently to herself.

"It explains everything," she said. "He was father's brother, and father in some way took and used his money. But father knew what sort of man he was, and so he asked him to be our guardian. Father thought he would be kind to us, I suppose. And he has been kind—he has. But why did he keep it a secret? Of course the money was his. All we had was his by right. But to say nothing and to let us believe—"

Sylvester interrupted quickly. "Caroline, Caroline," he said, "don't make any mistake. Don't misjudge your uncle again. He is a good man, one of the best men I ever knew. Yes, and one of the wisest."

"Oh, Mr. Sylvester, please, now that I do know now that you have told me so much, won't you tell me the rest, the reason and all of it? Please?"

The lawyer shook his head, regarding her with an expression of annoyance and reluctant admiration.

"Now that I've told you," he repeated, "I don't remember that I've told you anything."

"But you have. Not in words, perhaps, but you have told me. I know. Please go on and tell me all. If you don't," with determination, "I shall make Uncle Elisha tell me as soon as he comes. I shall."

Sylvester sighed. "Well, by George," he repeated feebly. "I'll tell you one thing, young woman, you're wasting your talents. You should be a member of the bar. Any one who can lead a battle scared veteran of cross examination like myself into a trap and then spring it on him, as you have done, is gifted by Providence. I ought not to say anything more on the subject," he declared emphatically. "What Captain Warren will say to me when he finds this out is unpleasant to consider. What is it you want me to tell you?"

"Everything. I want you to sit down here by me and tell me the whole story from the beginning. Please."

He hesitated a moment longer and then, his mind made up, returned to his chair, crossed his legs and began. "Here it is," he said.

"Caroline, about twenty years ago or such matter your father was a comparatively poor man—poor, I mean, compared to what he afterward became. But he was a clever man, an able business man, one who saw opportunities and grasped them. At that time he obtained a grant in South America for—"

warren. "I guessed that. Of course it must have been he."

"It was. The captain had saved some money; also at that time he idolized his brother and believed in his shrewdness and capability. He invested this $10,000 on Rodgers Warren's word that the investment was likely to be a good one, that and to help the latter in business. For a few years the company did nothing. During that time your father and uncle disagreed—concerning another matter, quite unconnected with this one—and they did not see each other again while Rodgers lived. In that long period the Akrae company made millions. But Elisha supposed it to be bankrupt and worthless, because—well, to be frank, because his brother wrote him to that effect."

"Now we come to the will. Your father, Caroline, was not a bad man at heart. He realized how he had defrauded the brother who had been so kind to him, and he kept promising himself to some day repay the money he had taken. To insure that he put that note with the other papers of the company. If he did repay it could be destroyed; if he did not, if he should die, it would be there to prove—that it did prove. But always in his mind was the thought of you and Steve, the children he loved. He had quarreled with his brother, it is true. He had cheated him, but restitution for that cheat he had provided. But what would become of you, left in case he died without making restitution—penalties? He knew his brother, as I said, knew his character, respected his honesty and believed in his conscientiousness and his big heart. So he made his will, and in it, as you know, he appointed Elisha your guardian. He threw his children and their future upon the mercy and generosity of the brother he had wronged. That is his reason, as we surmise it, for making that will."

CHAPTER XIX.

"Yes, Because I Want Him."

SYLVESTER paused. Caroline did not speak for a moment; then she asked:

"And no one knew—you or my uncle or any one of all this until last March?"

"No, Graves had, with his usual care and patience, pieced together the evidence and investigated until we were sure that a stockholder in the Akrae company existed and that all of your father's estate belonged to him. Who that stockholder was we did not know until that day of the meeting at our office. Then Captain Warren told us."

"But he did not know either?"

"Not until then. He supposed his Akrae stock worthless and had practically forgotten it. When we told him of its value, of the note and of the missing shareholder, he knew, of course. One would have thought he was the wrongdoer and not the wronged. He would have gone straight to you and asked your pardon if we would have permitted it."

"But, Mr. Sylvester, now we are coming to the part I cannot understand. Of course the estate belonged to him. I know that. It is his. But why didn't he tell Steve and me the truth then, at once?"

"Caroline, Caroline, don't you understand yet? Do you imagine for one moment that your uncle intends keeping that money?"

She stared at him in utter amazement.

"Keeping it?" she repeated. "Why not? It is his. It belongs to him."

"Caroline, I'm afraid you don't know him even yet. He was for going to you at once and destroying the note in your presence. He would have done it, but we persuaded him to wait and think it over for a day or two. He did think and then decided to wait a little longer for your sake."

"For my sake? For mine?" She passed her hand in a bewildered way across her forehead. "Mr. Sylvester, I don't seem to understand even now. I—"

"For your sake, Caroline. Remember, at that time you were engaged to Malcolm Duun."

Your money had, in a way, warped your estimate of people and things. And there was Steve. You know, Caroline, that money and what it brought were spoiling Steve. It has never been so much of a man as during the past year, when he thought himself poor. But your uncle has planned for him as well as for you, and when he believes the time has come he—"

"Please," she interrupted falteringly—"please don't say any more. Let me think, Mr. Sylvester. You say that Uncle Elisha intends giving us all that father took from him—all of it?"

"Yes, all. He considers himself merely your guardian still and will accept only his expenses from the estate."

"It is wonderful!" she repeated brokenly. "Even though we cannot take it, it is wonderful."

"What? Cannot take it?"

"Of course not! Do you suppose that either my brother or I would take the fortune that our father stole—yes, stole—from him, after he has been living almost in poverty all these years and we in luxury—on his money? Of course we shall not take it."

"But, Caroline, I imagine you will have to take it. I understand your feelings, but I think he will compel you to take it."

"I shall not!" She sprang to her feet. "Of course I shall not! Never! Never!"

"What's that you're never going to take, Caroline—measures or another trip down in these parts? I hope 'tain't the last, 'cause I've been cal'latin' you'd like it well enough to come again."

Caroline turned. So did Sylvester. Captain Elisha was standing in the doorway, his hand on the knob. He was smiling broadly, but as he looked at the two by the fire he ceased to smile.

"What's all this?" he asked suspiciously. "Caroline, what—Sylvester, what have you been tellin' her?"

Neither looked from one to the other. "Sylvester!" Caroline had never seen her uncle thoroughly angry before.

"Sylvester," he cried, "have you—have you dared to tell her what you shouldn't? Didn't you promise me? If you told that girl I'll—"

His niece stepped forward. "Hush, Uncle Elisha," she said. "He didn't tell me until I knew already. I guessed it. Then I asked for the whole truth, and he told me."

"The whole truth?" Caroline.

He wrung his hands.

"Yes, uncle, the whole truth. I know you now. I thought I knew you before, but I didn't—not half. I do now."

"Oh, Caroline!" He stepped toward her and then stopped, frantic and despairing. "Caroline! Caroline!" he cried again. "Can you ever forgive me? You know—you must know. I ain't ever meant to keep it. It's all yours. I just didn't give it to you right off because—because—Oh, Sylvester, tell her I never meant to keep it! Tell her!"

The lawyer shook his head. "I did tell her," he said, with another shrug, "and she tells me she won't accept it."

"What?" The captain's eyes were staring from his head. "What? Won't take it? Why, it's hers—hers and Steve's! It always has been! Do you calculate I'd rob my own brother's children? Don't talk so foolish! I won't hear such talk!"

"What's all this?" he asked suspiciously. "Caroline, what—Sylvester, what have you been tellin' her?"

Caroline was close to tears, but she was firm.

Captain Elisha looked at her determined face, then at the lawyers. But he found no help there. His chin thrust forward. He nodded slowly.

"All right! All right!" he said grimly. "Sylvester, is your shop going to be open tomorrow?"

"Guess not, captain," was the puzzled reply. "It's Thanksgiving. Why?"

"But Graves'll be to home, won't he? I could find him at his house?"

"I presume you could."

"All right, then. Caroline Warren, you listen to me. I'll give you till 2 o'clock to make up your mind to take the money that belongs to you. If you don't I swear to the Lord Almighty I'll take the fast train, go straight to New York, hunt up Graves, make him go down to the office and get that note your father made out turnin' all his property over to that Akrae company. I'll get that note, and I'll burn it up. Then—then you'll have to take the money, because it'll be yours. Every bit of evidence that'll hold in law is gone."

He turned, strode to the door and out of the room. A moment later they heard a scream from Miss Baker in the kitchen: "Elisha Warren, what ails you? Are you crazy?" There was no answer, but the back door closed with a tremendous bang.

Half an hour after his dramatic exit Captain Elisha was pacing up and down the floor of the barn. It was an old refuge of his, a place where he was accustomed to go when matters requiring deliberation and thought oppressed him. As he turned in his stride he saw a shadow move across the all of the big, open door. He caught his breath and stopped.

Dinner Stories

The woman advanced ominously. "Are you the teacher that tore Henry's shirt?"

"Yes."

"What did you do it for?"

"Because Henry was naughty and wouldn't behave. To make him listen to me I took him by the collar and he broke away."

The woman swung the ball bat to and fro. "Next time he don't behave," she said, "you hit him with this."

In his earlier days Lord Morris (afterward lord chief justice of Ireland) was recorder of Galway. On one occasion, the last case on the list—a dispute arose over a few shillings—was argued before him at great length and much warmth. Lord Morris was anxious to get back to Dublin, where the courts were in full swing and he held important briefs. Within a few minutes the Dublin train was timed to start. The recorder looked at his watch, but the wrangle did not seem to be approaching an end.

At last he said to the opposing solicitors:

"See here, gentlemen, I must catch a train. Here is the sum in dispute. And, throwing down the silver, he vanished from the court."

(Cleveland Moffatt of the citizens' vigilance committee of New York said at a luncheon:

"The chap who calls the selective service unconstitutional misreads the constitution as badly as the little girl misread the preacher's text."

"What was the text?" her father asked the little girl, as he carved up the Sunday roast.

"Oh, papa," she said, in a shocked voice, "it was—Abdomen, Abdomen, my son Abdomen!"

Wealthy Janesville Widow Would Marry Again

"Now that my stomach troubles has all disappeared, after taking a course of Mayer's Wonderful Remedy I would even consider getting married again. I cannot tell you how terribly I suffered before taking this great remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded."

Says Pile Remedy Worth $100.00 a Box

Columbus Man Knows What He Is Talking About

I have had hemorrhoids ever since my childhood. Recently I am 53 years old and have suffered terribly. I have tried many remedies and doctors, but no cure. About 3 weeks ago I saw your ad for Peterson's Ointment. The first application stopped all itching, and in three days all soreness. I have only used one 25c box and consider I am cured. You have my heartfelt thanks, and may every one that has this trouble see this and give Peterson's Ointment, that is worth a hundred dollars or more a box, a trial. Sincerely yours, A. Newell, Columbus, Ohio.

"It makes me feel proud to be able to produce an ointment like that," says Peterson. "Not only do I guarantee Peterson's Ointment for old sores and wounds, but for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Itching Skin, Chapped Lips, Blackheads and all skin diseases. I put in a big box for 25 cents, a paper all you need to pay, and money back from your druggist if not satisfied. Advertisement."

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Exposure Aches

Cold rain, winds, and dampness bring out the rheumatic aches. An application of Sloan's Liniment will soon have the blood circulating and the pain will disappear. For neuralgia, lame back, stiff neck, sprains, strains, and all muscle soreness, Sloan's Liniment is the best. No rubbing; it quickly penetrates the pores, better than plaster or ointments. For cold feet or hands try an application of Sloan's Liniment. Generous sized bottles, at all druggists.

SEA WALL IS BEING BUILT IN GALVESTON

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Galveston, Tex., April 1.—Continuing the original plan of making the city more secure from tropical hurricanes, Galveston has begun nearly two miles of a sea wall around the southwest water front. The work, which was started a few days ago, will cost approximately $2,000,000 and will require nearly two years to complete.

When the tropical storm of 1900 had abated and Galveston had buried at sea thousands of citizens drowned or killed in the storm, leading men of the city met and determined to improve on the work of nature by raising the site of Galveston and thus shutting out the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

The chief of the federal government was sought and the Texas legislature agreed to remit state and county taxes pending the building of the monster rock and concrete barrier along the south front of the seaport. The original wall is four miles in length and is bordered by a brick driveway. Its entire length, 10,000 feet, will be built of concrete and cement were used in its construction and it was not completed until 1908.

Before the wall had been completed, practically the whole city had been elevated seven and one-half feet, the height of the barrier. This was done by raising buildings and then pumping millions of tons of sand in under the city. The stone of the city was made toward Galveston Bay on the north. The grade operations, including individual expense, cost approximately $3,000,000.

Previous to 1911 wooden trestles formed the only connections between the island and the mainland—a distance of more than three miles. The trestles were built of stone and concrete, was completed. It not only carries the railroad tracks of the several lines entering Galveston but interurban tracks and a public road. The city was constructed jointly by Galveston county and the transportation lines using it. In the center is a draw permitting the passage of all vessels. The storm of 1915 severely damaged the causeway and for several months it was impassable. Some months ago, however, repairs on it were begun and it is expected that they will be completed before summer.

For the extension of the sea wall the federal government has appropriated $1,000,000 and Galveston county $500,000. It will be 10,300 feet in length from the point where it attaches to the old original wall between Sixth and Seventh streets, to where it ends in the head of the channel Port Jacinto reservation. It will protect approximately a thousand acres of government property and about half that amount in Galveston county.

Included in the original amount of material with which to start the work were 5,000 piles and 1,500 tons of lumber along with several railroads of rock and cement. Several thousand men will be employed in carrying out the undertaking.

MUNICIPAL COAL YARDS THIRIED IN BADGER CITIES

Madison, Wis., April 1.—The problem of the results obtained by cities of Wisconsin and other states in their efforts toward the municipal handling of fuel are presented in a report entitled "Municipal Coal Yards," just prepared by the municipal reference bureau of the University of Wisconsin and now being published as a special bulletin.

Although no Wisconsin city has as yet actually taken over the coal business, Oshkosh has voted to establish municipal yards, and other cities have tried municipal coal dealing. The problem is being considered in Kenosha, Madison, Sheboygan, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, La Crosse and Racine.

Ashtand made temporary arrangements for the municipal purchase and sale of coal when the shortage grew serious a year ago. Eau Claire tried some such temporary arrangement but was unable to get coal; Marinette handled the situation by the municipal handling of cord wood; and Wausau is now taking steps to secure a supply of coal for its citizens in response to a petition passed by the county council of defense.

Reports from 30 cities in other states are included in the bulletin to give the experiences of these cities in giving municipal yards, and to show Wisconsin cities the pitfalls that must be avoided.

Some of the problems that must be considered, according to the bulletin, are the securing of an adequate supply of coal, the purpose of the municipal yard, and the selling policy.

Careful investigation of the possibilities of securing an adequate and reliable supply is urged, before extensive outlay is made. The city must determine whether it can secure coal when its dealers cannot, whether it can purchase coal at a cheaper price than the local dealers will, and whether its local dealers will oppose the municipal plan and hinder its efforts to secure coal.

Two policies are outlined when the city is urged to determine the purpose of its municipal yard. Either its purpose is merely to supply coal to needy families and to customers who can purchase only in small quantities, or whether its yard will ever be a regular retail business and sell to all the citizens who offer to buy.

"If a city determines to establish a municipal coal yard for the purpose of retaining coal in competition with local dealers, it must first determine whether it is to sell coal at cost or at cost plus a reasonable profit," the report declares in discussing the selling policy. If the first policy is adopted, the city must be prepared to meet the full coal demand of the city. If the second is followed, the private dealers may continue business but the city's action will have a tendency to regulate prices. These and many other considerations enter into the municipal coal yard problem.

The establishment of a municipal coal yard requires considerable time, equipment and money," the bulletin declares, and cities contemplating this operation of such yards during the coming winter should make their plans early."

of the municipal coal plant is also included in the report.

MAY 12 SET ASIDE AS MOTHER'S DAY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Philadelphia, Pa., April 2.—May 12, the second Sunday in May, is Mother's Day.

"In honor of the best mother that ever lived—your mother," was one of the slogans under which the celebration of this day was inaugurated in Philadelphia several years ago. The object, to bring about world-wide recognition of a specified day as one for universal emphasis of the love men and women owe to good mothers, has been accorded a response from practically every civilized nation.

But this year Mother's Day is to have a significance even deeper than formerly. With the assistance of military and naval authorities in the United States, with the country's ships at sea and commanding her troops abroad, and with the aid of the Red Cross and Young Men's Christian Association officials, the day is to be one of an interchange of greetings between mothers at home and their boys with the colors.

By men in foreign service, it is hoped, the day will be partly devoted to letter writing. Congress has made the day a national flag day. Secretaries Baker and Daniels and General Pershing have endorsed the innovation to be introduced this year on the theory that nothing so stimulates the morale of fighting men as letters from home.

Honoring mothers or their memory through some distinct act of kindness—a visit, a letter, or the wearing of a white carnation—are the marks of Mother's Day observance which have been widely adopted in North and South America, England, Europe and in Australia.

The white carnation has been recognized as the special flower for Mother's Day. Its whiteness is held symbolic of purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, clarity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness—the embodiment of the virtues of motherhood.

In her annual announcement of the day, Miss Jarvis says: "It is not a day of idle sentimentalism. It evokes a renewal of allegiance to our highest ideals of womanhood and will contribute to the sanctity of domestic and national integrity."

Observance of this day is to be urged in schools, colleges, churches and fraternal societies, orphanages and prisons. In recent years mayors of cities and towns throughout the United States have issued proclamations calling for general observance of the day.

SOLDIERS BUY FOR LESS IN FRANCE

Uncle Sam's Forces Now Fighting in France Have Plenty of Chance Of Purchasing Dainties Over There.

Many inquiries have been made of late to the post office officials as to the character and price of articles now being sent to the soldiers in France but which can be purchased at the canteens in that country. Local people who have boys in France are anxious at times that the boys are located so that it is impossible for them to purchase anything. There are canteens in every section of France where there are soldiers and some of the articles that the people of Janesville have been sending to the boys in France could be purchased much cheaper by the boy himself at the canteen.

The post office department makes public the following list of supplies which may be purchased of the various canteens or Y. M. C. A. social centers and at a price lower than the people can buy for in the United States.

Wherever possible these articles are manufactured or purchased in Europe thus saving an immense amount of tonnage on ships plying between United States and Europe. Government officials have tried on many occasions to discourage the people from sending only what is absolutely necessary to the boys in France. The articles obtainable at the Y. M. C. A. and the approximate price in American cents are as follows:
